Public Health Nursing: Provides services to families, individuals, and communities to promote health and wellness and to prevent illness. The Perinatal Program offers information and resources to new parents including prenatal classes, home visits, screening and referrals, and breastfeeding support. Routine immunizations are provided by appointment in well child clinics, adult clinics, and travel health clinics. School Health programs include immunization for grade 6 & 9 students as well as catch up immunization for those in grade 1 - 9. The annual influenza campaign offers influenza immunization to all individuals over six months of age. Public Health is also involved in communicable disease surveillance, follow-up, and preventative management. Oral Health: Provides free fluoride varnish for eligible pre-school children 12-35 months. In select schools, fluoride varnish is offered to children in Kindergarten, grades 1 & 2. Early Intervention Program (EIP): Supports families of children (0 - 3 1/2 years) with developmental delays or disabilities using a home-based, family-centered approach. EIP staff connect families to community resources, provide information on child development, and develop a service plan unique to each family. Sexual Health Consultant: Information/support, resources and presentations on sexual health to adults, youth, parents, professionals, community groups and schools. Issues addressed include: prevention, diagnosis and treatment of sexually transmitted infections; contraception (birth control); healthy and informed sexual health decision making and healthy relationships. Throughout the course of the pandemic, many of these outreach opportunities are offered virtually. The type of support (virtual or in-person) is in constant evaluation reflecting Alberta Health Guidance on prevention of COVID-19. Environmental Public Health Program: As regulators, public health inspectors enforce the Public Health Act, Skin

Cancer Prevention (Artificial Tanning) Act, Tobacco, Smoking and Vaping Reduction Act, and their regulations. Public Health inspectors routinely inspect public places including restaurants, swimming pools, rental houses, day cares, tattooing or body piercing shops and special events. Also provides health and safety training in the areas of food safety, swimming pool operation, and child-care facility operation. They are empowered to investigate public complaints about health and safety concerns in public facilities, and to investigate illness resulting from consumption of food or drinking water, or from exposure to environmental contaminants. EPH also supports Albertans in reducing the risk and spread of COVID-19 in Alberta, by working together with business operators, and Albertans, to ensure compliance with Chief Medical Officer of Health Orders and Guidelines. They use education, inspection, and enforcement with a focus on places and activities which present the greatest risk of COVID-19 transmission. EPH is mandated to respond to all public complaints and to follow up on outstanding violations. Health Promotion: In supporting communities and schools in addressing health priorities, our team utilizes community development, co-design and innovation principles to deliver a combination of virtual and in-person supports including (but not limited to); review and explore community health data and information; tools, resources, and supports to create healthy schools and communities; consultations and facilitation to support redesign, long term planning, development of a comprehensive strategy to address wellness priorities, grant applications, etc.; guidance in health equity, collective impact and service realignment; best and promising practices in community action and health school environments; health resources and information (i.e., tobacco reduction, cannabis regulation, environmental public health, nutrition, injury prevention). Throughout the course of the pandemic, many of these outreach opportunities are offered virtually. The type of support (virtual or in-person) is in constant evaluation reflecting Alberta Health Guidance on prevention of COVID-19 Public Health Nutrition: Dietitians work with communities to support Central Albertans to eat healthy where they live, learn, work, play. Dietitians support improving healthy eating environments in your community, school, child care, recreation centre, or workplace. Dietitians deliver on-line nutrition workshops that are open to pregnant women and caregivers of young children. Visit AHS services website for more information.

"HIV Edmonton believes health equity and gender equity is a right. We achieve this by honoring community, advocating in partnership to amplify community voices, enhancing responsiveness, and advancing the knowledge that U=U=U: Undetectable equals Untransmittable meaning a person living with HIV achieves and maintains an undetectable viral load, they cannot transmit HIV sexually; Universal access to testing, treatment, care, and support is central to U=U=U.

Camrose Hospice has been a registered charity since 2011 serving the city of Camrose, and the counties of Beaver, Camrose and Flagstaff. Services are offered in-home, at a hospital, long-term care facilities, through programs at Mirror Lake Centre, and in the community. Support groups and education sessions are available (schedules are available on our website). HSCD office is located at the lower level of the Mirror Lake Centre. Staff and trained volunteers provide these services:
Palliative and End of Life Programs - provides respite and support to families who are caring for someone who has a life limiting illness and to those dying at home.

Bereavement and Grief Programs - provides individual grief sessions, grief companions, grief walks, and grief support groups.

The fundamental purpose of the Ombudsman is to investigate complaints from citizens. Whether it is a disagreement stemming from an important decision or a delay in service, the Ombudsman's office listens to the issue and works toward a fair outcome. Albertans may contact the Ombudsman with complaints of unfair treatment by provincial government authorities, municipalities, the Patient Concerns Resolution Process of Alberta Health Services, health professions and other designated professional organizations. The Ombudsman's office ensures fair treatment through independent investigations, recommendations and education for all Albertans. The Ombudsman: is impartial and independent from the government, is respected, influential and effective, promotes standards of administrative fairness, is approachable and responsive, provides services free of charge, does not advocate for the complainant or the authority but recommends solutions that are fair for both sides. Complaints can be submitted at www.ombudsman.ab.ca through a confidential online complaint form or by email, fax or mail

Grief Support, specializing in pet grief support. Grieving a beloved companion animal is not always understood or accepted in our society and as a result we are often left feeling alone and isolated. If you would like a safe place to speak about your grief and learn coping strategies, please reach out. Dignity Therapy - clients are invited to share memories and wishes that they deem important or want to be recorded for their loved ones. This is a document that I'll type out which ps allows clients to address issues that they anticipate will arise in the wake of their death, instructions they might want to leave or words of wisdom or guidance they might like to share with particular individuals. Spiritual Direction - "To listen another's soul into a condition of disclosure and discovery may be almost the greatest service that any human being ever performs for another" (Steere). Through deep listening and guidance one is able to connect with one's inner truth/self. It is at this place where clarity, healing, and growth can take place. Sessions are offered in person or over the phone.

Samm-I-Am Forest Therapy Guide

Phone: 780-672-1956

Fee: $35.00

Forest Therapy is a practice that supports health and wellness through guided immersion in forests and the environment to promote the well-being of both people and the land. It is inspired by Shinrin-yoku, the Japanese practice of "Forest Bathing". In Forest Bathing, people spend time in forested areas to enhance health, wellness and happiness. Studies show Forest Therapy can improve mental health, anxiety, physical health, and lower blood pressure. Participants are guided through a clearly defined sequence of invitations to slow down, allow the senses to open, and experience the environment to deepen the reciprocal relationship between participants and the forest. This supports wholeness and well-being. Slow walks in the forest are typically less than a kilometer long and suitable for all ages and physical conditions. Invitations are open-ended. There is no expectation for what participants should experience or receive. Participant spend time in silence, listening and feeling. They become reconnected with their senses and open to what the forest has to offer.

Critical Incident Group Debriefing Services

- our Suicide Grief Support Services team offers group debriefing support to adults who have experienced a critical incident. The debriefing process provides a safe place for people to talk about and share experiences related to the incident. We provide Critical Incident Group Debriefings at least three days after a critical incident, for up to two weeks after the incident. Services are provided free of charge, although donations are welcome when a group debriefing is held at a work site. Bereavement Support Services - grieving a loss to suicide can seem overwhelming, but the support and understanding of others can be a powerful source of strength. Our Suicide Bereavement Support Groups welcome anyone who has lost someone to suicide. Each group includes three modules covered over a 12-week period. Participants must attend an intake session prior to joining a group. Suicide Caregiver Support Service - welcomes anyone who is providing care for someone who has attempted suicide or may be thinking about suicide. We help to lighten the burden by providing individual support sessions, including: Emotional support, identifying and understanding the relevant issues and concerns, creating a safety strategy, creating a self-care plan, and connecting you to other caregiver support services in the community. Youth Suicide Grief Support Services - grieving a loss to suicide can seem overwhelming, but the support and understanding of others can be a powerful source of strength. Our Youth Suicide Grief Support Groups are designed for and by youth with a tailored curriculum for 12 to 17 year olds and 18 to 25 year olds. Each group includes three modules covered over a 12-week period. Participants must attend an intake session prior to joining a group.

Virtual Mental Health

Virtual care refers to services that use technology such as video, telephone and messaging to provide health care. Virtual addiction and mental health supports are available to help Albertans get the care they need, when they need it, no matter where they live. While in-person care is available when required, many times supports can also be provided virtually, decreasing travel time, time away from home and even decreased in wait time for service. Visit Alberta Health Services Virtual Mental Health for links to Addiction Online Meetings, Mental Health Online Sessions, AHS Supports, Health Professionals, and Healthcare Services

We offer both pre-natal and parenting support for families with children ages 0-6. Our approach is family centered and strength based, we work in partnership with families and tailor services to best meet your needs. The intent of Home Visitation is to increase protective factors and build resiliency thereby increasing a family's capacity to provide responsive parenting in a safe and nurturing environment. We utilize a curriculum called Growing Great Kids to help support the "big picture" part of parenting and relationships, coupled with other tools and resources that encourage critical and creative thinking to build on the knowledge and skill sets that you already have. As a further extension our PCAP program offers specialized, holistic support during and after pregnancy for those experiencing difficulties with substance use and other health or social needs. We work together for 3 years building connections that help to create the life you want. We work closely with community partners to ensure a holistic approach to meeting needs that you identify for your family and to build awareness of community supports for long term parenting success. All programs are voluntary and free of charge. Referrals are welcome from everyone including self.

Camrose & Area Men's Shed

Phone: 780-608-0605 Alt Phone:

780-672-0141

camrosemendsshed@gmail.com

A Men's Shed offers a gathering place and an opportunity to pursue common interests with other men. By choosing projects and activities that are suited to members of each Men's Shed, the group can work together with a shared purpose while enjoying each other's company. The participants determine their own interests and activities and this varies greatly between Sheds. Some focus on woodworking, or metalworking, bicycle repair, electronics, model buildings or even car repair and restoration. Sheds usually attract older men, but many have younger members too. Whatever the activity, the essence of a Shed is not a building, but the connections and relationships between its members as they work together on things they want to do.

Local Men's Sheds are part of a provincial, national, and international movement that offer men that camaraderie and sense of a shared purpose that is often found in the workplace. A Men's Shed is open to all men who want to have that kind of connection: retired men, shift workers, men with leisure time, or anyone else who wants to enjoy company, camaraderie, and constructive pastimes. The positive mental health impact of men's participation in Men's Shed worldwide has been shown in research to decrease social isolation, enhance self-esteem, and in some cases, increase access to health information. While men with low social interaction often experience loneliness, depression, and other negative health outcomes, a Men's Shed is not a mental health agency. It's a venue for healthy interaction, meaningful contribution, and good fun—but one with proven mental health benefits.

The Camrose & Area Men's Shed supports projects aimed at giving back to their community - by participating in community events, or volunteering. Involvement at the Shed is always casual and attendance is optional rather than required. Meetings are held every Thursday at the Camrose & District Centennial Museum's Old Timer's Hut from 12:00-2:00 pm. Coffee and snacks provided.

A program of Camrose & District FCSS. Nav-CARE - Navigation: Caring, Accessing Resourcing, Engaging. Nav-CARE's specially-trained volunteers help improve the lives of people living with serious illness by creating connections to community services and resources and providing caring, consistent emotional support. If you are living with an illness that isolates and overwhelms you at times, you aren't alone. According to a survey *one in five seniors say they experience emotional distress and have difficulty coping day to day. Many feel they aren't getting the support they need to live happier, more fulfilling lives.

Nav-CARE is a free program designed to address these needs. Specially trained volunteers, with connections to professional health care providers, work with you to access resources and services in your community while providing companionship and emotional support. Like a helpful neighbour or friend, Nav-CARE volunteers visit you in your home on a regular basis with a focus on enhancing your quality of life.
